

PRESS RELEASE

13 March 2018

Trade association extends acoustic awards programme

National trade body the Association of Noise Consultants (ANC) has expanded its acclaimed awards programme for 2018.

Promoting and recognising excellence among UK acoustic consultants, the categories in this year's ANC Acoustic Awards have been increased from four to seven.

'Building Acoustics,' sponsored by H&H Acoustic Technologies, 'Education Acoustics,' sponsored by Ecophon, 'Environmental Noise,' sponsored by ANV Measurement Systems and 'Vibration,' sponsored by Pliteq are the four headline categories.

They are joined by three new categories, 'Good Acoustic Design,' 'Smaller Projects' and 'Innovation.'

Entries will be scrutinised by a distinguished panel of judges comprising of academics and professionals, as well as representatives from the sponsor companies – with the winners announced at a ceremony at the Hyatt in Birmingham on June 27.

Robert Osborne of ANC, the voice of professional consultancy in acoustics, noise and vibration in the UK, said: "The awards are a key date in our calendar, providing a platform to demonstrate how those in membership lead the way to improve acoustics for the whole of society, and promote high standards and good practice.

"They also give an opportunity to promote to a wider audience the career opportunities available in the industry, utilising science, technology, engineering and mathematics."

More details on the ANC Acoustic Awards can be found at <http://www.association-of-noise-consultants.co.uk/>

ENDS

Notes To Editors

ANC members provide consultancy advice across all areas of acoustics, noise and vibration to support the built environment, as well as transportation and entertainment sectors.

Their expertise creates usable environments from the most challenging sites. Members also aid the well-being and comfort of building-users across the whole spectrum of use, in public, private and commercial places.

<http://www.association-of-noise-consultants.co.uk/>

Press release issued by Jane Shepherd, Shepherd PR Limited, 01538 308685, 07985 129315