

Acoustic Technician/Sound Testing Engineer Position Available

Who are we:

Acoustic Associates Sussex Ltd are an employee-owned acoustic consultancy practice located at Shoreham Airport in Sussex, by the seaside but only a few miles from Brighton. We are a Chartered Building Consultancy and have been providing acoustic consultancy services for over 25 years.

Acoustic Technician Role:

We are looking for an experienced technician to join our small & friendly team.

You would need to have had experience in an acoustic consultancy environment for at least a year and preferably more. You would be accredited as a Sound Insulation Tester with either the ANC or working with a UKAS Accredited consultancy. If you have Air Tightness Testing experience and are accredited as such then this would be an advantage. Your role would also include assisting the consultant staff with noise and/or vibration surveys, i.e. assisting with setting up and conducting rail or road traffic noise surveys.

You should be a team player but with experience of working independently and taking responsibility for your own projects, in consultation with other staff when necessary

We are a positive and collaborative team with a supportive work culture in place and we believe strongly in enabling all our staff to achieve of their best.

We can offer a mixed/diverse workload with the possibility of hybrid working.

An attractive package is offered to the right person, together with opportunities for further professional development with potential advancement into a Consultancy role.
