

Acoustics & Senior Acoustics Consultants

We are expanding and looking for dedicated and dynamic acousticians to support our growing workload. These roles offer genuine autonomy, responsibility and the chance to influence design decisions and client outcomes. Experience in architectural acoustics is a must, together with knowledge of key UK guidance and standards. Familiarity with acoustic modelling such as CATT and SoundPLAN is an advantage. In addition to our work in construction, we hold a varied project portfolio also covering the environmental, industrial and maritime sectors.

We offer a competitive salary, a clear progression pathway and a four-day working week. We operate a holiday loyalty accrual system and the chance to work in a friendly, professional team. Northwest-based consultants are preferred; however, hybrid working is considered.
